

What to do...

An unusual day

Remembering an experience like this brings back valuable feelings. When your child is writing his or her own stories, he or she will need to be able to draw on their own experiences and feelings when writing about characters and plots.

1. Talk with your helper about an important or unusual event which happened to you.
2. It should be real, not imaginary!
3. It could be something good like a nice surprise or something bad like an accident.
4. Write an account of this unusual event in sentences.
5. Include details like where, when and how it happened.
6. How did you feel during it?

Sorry kids I think I took a wrong turn at Mars.

Mum this doesn't look like Alien Towers
